Mason and Slidell All the facts of this case have not yet been officially communicated. We will assume, however, that the English mail steam-packet Trent was visited beyond the distance of a marine league from the shore, and that the neutral waters within that distance were not used by the United States cruiser in watching her opportunity for the exercise of a belligerent right in the adjacent seas. Mr. Webster, the most distinguished American expounder of international law, in his official correspondence with Lord Ashburton, declared that a vessel on the high seas, beyond the distance of a marine league from the shore, is regarded as part of the territory of the nation to which she belongs. He also, in a subsequent letter to the same functionary, held the following language: The ocean is the sphere of the law of nations; and any merchant vessel on the seas is by that law under the protection of the laws of her own nation, and may claim immunity, unless...
