Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Pure Foods: Their Adulteration, Nutritive Value, and Cost This volume is the outgrowth of a series of public lectures on foods, which have been given by the author for a number of years. The interest shown by audiences of widely different character, as well as frequent requests for the substance of the lectures in printed form, has led to their publication. The experimental illustrations which accompanied the lectures are given in the form of a series of experiments at the end of each chapter. Some of these experiments are so simple that they may be carried out with ordinary household utensils, others require a few chemicals and simple apparatus which may be purchased at any drug store. Many of them require a fairly well-equipped chemical laboratory, while others have been included which can be performed only by those who have considerable chemical training and facilities at their command. Most of the descriptive matter can be understood by the average intelligent reader, although even here a knowledge of chemistry will enable the reader to comprehend the subject much more fully. It is the hope of the author that this volume will be of some service to the very important class of teachers and students who are studying the chemistry of foods in the classroom and laboratory.
